Thinking Out Loud

By H. M. L.

THE FIRST LOYALTY

A good citizen is loyal. He is loyal to his friends, his community, his family, his employer or his employes. But first and above all he is loyal to his country. The mother that sees her son don a uniform and march off to battle her country's enemies can have no other solace save to think that he fights for the common good, for the sacred honor of her people, her country. Loyalty to the nation, is then, the first and fundamental loyalty.

In another column, the editor of this newspaper, has weighed the qualifications of candidates for state and congressional offices. in so far as human falability permits, with that single thought in mind: loyalty to this great nation. Then without prejudice or rancor we have set down the names of those we think the readers of this column should vote for. Few voters can rise above partisanship, but we have tried to do so, and have made a selection of candidates we feel should be elected, without disparagement of other candidates.

We advocate the election of R. R. Henderson to Congress for these reasons: He is a successful business man, who, if elected, gives up more in annual earnings than the pay and perquisites of the office amount to. He is independent of party control. He is snending his own money (and rubber) in this campaign. We have too few business men in congress, far too few, and we need more sound business sense in our government.

Or, if a Democrat who feels that he much prefers to vote for a Democrat in this critical time and during a Democratic regime, let us gvie our fellow citizen. Frank G. Finnegan, a vote. We have not often had an opportunity in this district, since Raker, of voting for a man of high ideals, fine sense of fair play, and ability and sound integrity, as this Democratic candidate for a seat in Congress, from our own home town.

We advocate the election of Earl Warren to be governor of California because he has already demonstrated what a patriotic, conscientious and honest man can accomplish in public office, both as district attorney of Alameda county and as attorney general of California. He has proved his faith in a government of law rather than of men. He has resisted and repelled insidious attemps to undermine his integrity. He is a man who served his country during the first world war in the fighting forces. Not since Hiram Johnson was chosen to sweep California free of corporate corruption, has this state had a chance to elect a governor of Warren's ability and high standards. We are confident that a majority of the voters will think of these things when they go to the polls tomorrow.

McFarland Enters Not Guilty Plea

Superior Judge George L. Jones has set Monday, September 14th, as the date for the trial of Charles McFarland, 73, who was last week indicted by the grand jury for the slaying of Robert R. McCumber, 52, McFarland's son n law.

McFarlend, when arraigned before Judge Jones Saturday, pleaded not guilty to the murder charge. W. E. Wright, appointed by the court, represented McFarland.

The action by the grand jury in indicting McFarland referred the case directly to the superior court without the necessity of a preliminary hearing.

McCumber died of a .22 caliber rifle bullet wound in the chest a week after he was shot. McFarland was taken into custody immediately after the shooting.

Witnesses to the shooting were McCumber's wife, daughter of the deceased and Ralph McFarland, son of the accused.

MINERS STILL HAVE CHANCE TO WIN FLAG

The Grass Valley Miners maintained a mathematical chance of winning the Sacramento Valley League championship by downing the Marysville Giants yesterday by a score of 4 to 2.

Chico defeated Oroville 5 to 4 to keep two games ahead of the Miners and one and one half games ahead of Marysville.

Turpin and Perry hooked up in a mound duel in the Grass Valley-Marysville battle but the Miners played errorless ball behind Turpin whereas the Giants made six errors behind Perry.

The scores of yesterday's games:

Grass Valley	4	5	0
Marysville	2	5	0

Batteries: Turpin and Stassi; Perry and Brack.

Chico	5	11	1
Oroville	4	4

State, District, County Contests Face Voters Here In Tomorrow's Election; Polls Open 6 'Till 7

Nevada City voters, along with the electorate of the rest of the state of California, will go to the polls tomorrow to register their choice for various state, county and township offices.

In Nevada County there are contests in six important positions and the election campaign during the past week has been spirited, promising a large turn out of voters.

The polls will be open from 6 a. m. until 7 p. m. In Nevada City the voting will take place at the Cartiscelli Building which is Precinct 1, Nevada City High School Building, Precinct 2, Union Hotel, Precinct 3, Washington Grammar School, Precinct 4, City Hall, Precinct 5. Outlying voting districts include Gold Flat No. 1 Precinct at the Oakland School House, Gold Flat No. 2, Gold Nugget Inn, Selby Flat, Lewis residence on Sugar Loaf and Willow Valley School House.

That the absentee vote may affect the outcome of the election was seen when County Clerk R. N. McCormack revealed that in excess of 600 absent votes already have been cast.

Much interest is centered on the race for congress from the second district, a post now held by Congessman Harry L. Englebright of Nevada City. On the Reublican ticket Englebright, a registered Republican has R. R. Henderson, building materials dealer of Lone Pine, Inyo County, and Frank G. Finnegan, attorney at law of Nevada City, as opponents. Henderson is a Republican and Finnegan a Democrat. The three men also are on the Democratic ballot as well as Mrs. Gertrude V. Clark of Sutter Creek, a Democrat, who did not cross file as did the other congressional candidates.

Four Nevada Countyans are seeking the position of treasurer and tax collector. The race was thrown wide open with the retirement of Incumbent Frank Steel. Those seeking the office are Joseph Martin, Elma Hecker, James Henwood and Joseph Henwood.

Three are candidates for sheriff. Incumbent Carl J. Tobiassen, Richard W. Hoskins and Fred E. Williford.

There also are three candidates for assessor, a position being vacated b John Hammill. Those seeking the office are Phillip G. Scadden, Eben K. Smart and John A. Fontz.

The district attorney race is confined to Vernon Stoll, incumbent, and Ward Sheldon, Nevada City attorney.

The coroner's position is sought by A. M. Holmes, incumbent, and Alvah Hooper.

Mrs. Lila M. Champion is seeking reelection as public administrator with Theodore Kohler, Jr., as her only opponent.

County Clerk and Auditor R. N. McCormack and County Superintendent of Schools Walter A. Carlson, Recorder John E. Nettell, Surveyor Joseph O'Connor and Supervisors Jerome Coughlan and Warren Odell have no opposition.

Justices of the Peace Charles Morehouse of Grass Valley Township, George W. Gildersleeve of Nevada Cit and C. E. Smith of Meadowlake Township have no opposition.

Bert Paynter, incumbent, and Ray Gardner seek the constable post in Grass Valley.

N. F. Dolley, Frank A. Titus, and Charles E. Pierce are candidates for constable of Meadowlake Township.

James Williams, constable of Nevada Township is unopposed for election.

Pear Pack May Reach, 225 Cars

Eastern fruit markets this year will receive approximately 160,000 boxes of Nevada County pears.

The pear picking and packing began last week with several hundred employed.

The Colfax Fruit Growers Association plans to ship between 150 and 200 cars from its packing plant in Colfax. Each car will contain 722 boxes. The Pacific Fruit Exchange will ship 18,000 boxes from the Chicago Park packing plant.

Garvin Mitchell, manager of the Colfax Fruit Growers Association, composed of Nevada County and eastern Placer County growers, anticipates the packing season in the Colfax plant to continue through September.

Mitchell reports the growers are receiving a 50 per cent higher price for their fruit over last year and the crop is possibly 30 per cent above last year's crop.

On the other hand, however, Mitchell states, picking, packing and shipping costs are higher than last year.

L. G. Lageson, Nevada County agricultural commissioner has found the pears to be in very good condition despite a late season and occasional hail which last spring were thought to have damaged the crop considerably.

Lageson said the Colfax Fruit Growers packing plant in Colfax is one of the largest and most modern in the state. The plant has all new machinery and is capable of handling 6000 lug boxes per day.

Manager Mitchell said the plant employes between 100 and 120 persons during the packing season. All white help is being used this year and Mitchell states the work is being done satisfactorily and efficiently with no serious shortage of labor.

An estimated several hundred pickers are employed in the orchards. Mitchell said a great number of the pickers are high school youths but there still is a shortage of help in the orchards.

The manager of the fruit exchange said the plant is owned entirely by the growers of the district and the success of the plant demonstrates what the growers can do cooperatively.

The Colfax Fruit Growers Association was formed in 1915. Mitchell has been the manager since 1932. The president of the association is Paul McCullough and Chris Bierwagen is vice president. Other directors are Frank Sealey, E. R. Williams and Joel Bierwagen. Mitchell also is secretary.

Visiting Parents Here—

Shirley Bastian and Eleanor Anargus arrived in Nevada City Saturday to visit with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Anargus and heir many friends in this community. The sisters are now residing in the bay area.

Absentee ballots, which are counted a week after the regular election day, may effect the outcome of races for Nevada County offices.

County Clerk R. N. McCormack reports application was made for 762 absentee ballots, the largest number of absent ballots issued in the history of of the county.

Although many have left Nevada County for other places they still retain an interest in the affairs of this county and are demonsrating good citizenship by casting ballots.

MANY ATTEND MRS. ARMSTRONG FUNERAL RITES

Many friends of Mrs Mildred Armstrong, widow of the late Major Pinskney Armstrong, attended the funeral rites at the Holmes Funeral Home Friday. Mrs. Armstrong died last Wednesday night.

Following the funeral rites the body was taken to San Francisco to be buried at the Presidio beside the bod of Major Armstrong.

When Armstrong retired from the Army the family came to Nevada City to live. Mrs. Armstrong at the time of her death, had been a resident of this community for 18 years.

ARRAIGNMENT CONTINUED

Claude Prine, indicted by the grand jury for manslaughter for the death in July in Grass Valley of John Tersan, asked for a continuance of his arrignment until September 4th when brought before Superior Judge George Y. Jones Saturday.

Prine has been serving a 60 day jail term for battery, a charge which was preferred against him prior to Tersan's death. District Attorney Vernon Stoll presented the case to the grand jury after Tersan died with the result the manslaughter indictment was returned against him. Bail has been set at $5,000.

Caught in the Riffles

Robert Paine and Dan Ungaro are thanking their lucky stars for an unexpected break.

Paine and Ungaro have been lifelong friends and by a quirk of fate are to be inducted into the Army for officers training together.

About four months ago Paine made application for officer's training. Several weeks ago, after attempts to get a commission in the Navy were frustrated, Ungaro decided he would also make application for officer's training.

Last week both received notices that they have been accepted and arrangements are being made whereby they both will be inducted from Nevada County on September 21st.

Paine is still wondering why it took four months for him to get into the service while it took Ungaro only three weeks but his wonderment is overshadowed by his joy that both he and his life long pal can enter the service and receive training together.

Dorothy Roberts and Fred Juliff had planned to marry on August 29th. But they moved the date up when Juliff received his Selective Service questionnaire and went to Reno last Friday, where they became man and wife.

Dorothy has been employed at the Bolton's Variety Store here. Previous to accepting employment there she worked at the Sweet Shop. The former Miss Roberts, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jay Roberts, graduated from the Nevada City High School last June.

Juliff is a member of a Grass Valley family. He is employed by the Shell Oil Company in that community.

Have you noticed the effect of the dim out in Nevada City? The town at 9 p. m. looks like it did formerly at 2 a. m. But it's the same in all communities along the Pacific Coast. One thing to be thankful for is that there is no restrictions —yet—on the street lights.

A request has been made for information on dim out regulations. Some of the most important regulations are:

All outside signs must be blacked out until further notice.

Neon type signs inside buildings, which can be seen from outside, are also required to be eliminated. These regulations apply principally to the business houses.

Regulations regarding homes, briefly stated, are as follows:

In this district it is not necessary to pull down the shades to exclude light.

A porch light may be used but must be shaded from above and globes must not be greater than 25 watts.

Back yard lights are allowed, so long as no light is projected upward and so long as the globes are not of high wattage.

No one must go away at night leaving any porch light or yard light burning, unless there is someone at home in case of a blackout.

Incinerators may not be used at night and no trash may be burned at night.

It is not necessary to dim automobile lights in this district. No spotlights are allowed. Persons leaving this district for the coast must investigate coast regulations and make arrangements to comply.

Nevada County voters are fortunate to have such a fine list of candidates for county offices to choose from at the election tomorrow.

The choice for all the offices is difficult because of the high calibre and qualifications of all of the candiates.

Several acquaintances remarked they may not vote because they have personal friends running for the same office, It's the duty of every registered voter to vote and that should be the prime thought of every citizen tomorrow.

Spends Weekend Here—

Catherine Tognarelli, employed by the U. S. Army Engineers Dept. in Sacramento, spent the weekend here at her former home.

THE NEXT GOVERNOR

As its next chief executive. Earl Warren is going to inject some statemanship into California's government. Mr. Olson has failed utterly to supply the states need for wartime leadership.

He messed up the State Guard.

He failed to look ahead to the time when there would be such a shortage of farm labor that the crops would rot in the field, and his only suggestion has been to bring the Japs back from the internment camps, a suggestion that promptly earned him a slap in the face from the Army.

He arrayed the legislature against him to such an extent, Democrats as well as Republicans, that there is no prospect of cooperation between the two branches of state government so long as he is governor. There should have been a special session this summer to revise the tax system, but Olson would not call it because even he knew that he would probably pull some more boners, and that would never do in election year.

He insisted in perpetuating his State Relief Administration political machine, and now is claimng credit for a state treasury surplus that could not have been accumulated if he had had his way.

Instead of proving the leadership that the people have a right to expect, he has cried for help from Washington every time he got into a corner.

When Mr. Warren, a month ago, flat-footedly advocated gent and wants everybody to prosper so that his own prosperity may be secure. He is as critical as any other section of public of the extremes pursued by some of labor's "leaders."

The working man believes in the property system, else why would he want to own his own home? He believes in the opportunities offered in business, else why should he educate his son in the hope that the son will get farther ahead in the world than the parent?

Olson is trying desperately to ride back into power on the coat-tails of the New Deal. He is trying to paint Warren as a "reactionary Republican plotter." The people won't fall for this worn-out line. The people will wait for the presidential election to vote for or against Roosevelt. Right now they are interested in electing a governor, a leader, a chief executive for their own state, someone who can stand on his own feet. —Feather River Bulletin.

permitting the state's pensioners to make and keep such little "outside" income as they could, Olson chased off to Washington to beg for this very thing. Why didn't he do something about it during his four year term? Well, he did, but it was on the negative side. When the right was taken away from the old-age pensioners by the Social Security Administration early in 1940, he yielded weakly.

Instead of leadership, we have had pettifogging, childishness and trucking to professional unionism.

To listen to Olson, you'd think we had a chaste system in California. You'd think that every man who works for wages wants to destroy business little and big, that the farmer is someone to be forgotten entirely, that the widow who owns a few securities is an ogre. The working man is intelli-

THE MARINES HAVE LANDED

A thrill went through the United States when the first complete communique of the Navy on the attack on the Solomon Islands said tersely:

"It has been confirmed that the United States Marines have landed as scheduled."

That is what the Marines have always done. It was a Marine officer in France who, when ordered to retreat, exploded: "Retreat? Hell! We just got here!" It was a Marine sergeant who, when he thought his men wavered in a bayonet charge, bawled: "Come on, you ——— do you want to live forever?"

When the U. S. forces eventually close in on Tokyo, the announcement will come a sure as rain and sun:

"The United States Marines have landed as scheduled."

JUST WONDERIN'

I wonder now if stern necessity
Will usher in a virile age of wood,
And if inventive genius will contrive,
When all our needs are clearly understood,
To fashion from the wealth of wooded hills
Ships, planes and homes so useful and so strong,
That through the war and when the war is won,
They'll serve the nation well and serve it long.

I wonder at the increasing importance of forests and forest products in a world at war. There is a shortage of basic materials, steel, aluminum, and other metals used in all sorts of construction, the shortage promises to become acute.

A few days since, I heard a radio commentator refer to forest products as "substitute materials." That must have made the wise old wood gods laugh, for not long since, lumber as a building material, was beset by substitutes of all sorts, shapes and colors. Is wood to be a substitute for substitutes?

Aeons upon aeons ago, a paleolithic ancestor —either yours or mine, placed a log across a wimpling stream and by so doing, provided the bridge builder's art with its first feeble, impulse. Later, his lineal descendants emerged from dank caverns of the earth, to rear timber built lake dwellings and enjoy life in the open, under blue skies and over sunlit waters.

And so on through succeeding ages, wherever trees grew, they were harvested and made to minister to the needs and comforts of man. The uses to which he put his forest products, mark his progress through all of his successive stages from barbarism to the semi-civilization of which we boast today. It paved the way to the beauty of ancient Greece and the wonders of Rome.

In due course of time, three little ships sailed on and on, through perilous, unknown seas until, at length the journey past, they found safe anchorage in the harbor of a brave new land of destiny.

The Mayflower was a wooden ship and when her passengers disembarked at Plymouth Rock, they surged into the primeval forests and proceeded at once to rear their timber-built communities. There little log cabins, stockades, schools and churches, were long since replaced by far more ambitious structures, but many fine examples of colonial architecture remain to testify to the dependability, durability and beaut of wood.

During the last world war, wooden ships helped to solve our transportation problems and to it may well be that in this second world war, wooden ships, planes and housing facilities may again come to the rescue.

At this critical time, it is the duty of every one of us to safeguard the forested areas which he may visit; to realize that the trees of our forests constitute asset whose value cannot be over estimated. We must look well to the ways of our cigarettes, matches and camp fires—the winning of this war may depend upon the building of wooden carriers and in the replacement of steel and aluuinum and other metals in the consstruction of planes and shelters for those who toil, that the nation may endure under a free flag and in full possession of those liberties guaranteed by our form of government.—A. Merriam Conner.

Rogers' Rangers ride again!
Now at the Hun-held shore,
They strike at Hitler in his den,
And wage Commando war!

Along the coast of Nazi France,
Armed and sharp to kill.
A desperate army took a chance,
And won the world a thrill.

A Yankee, French and British crew,
Joined in this slashing raid.
And Dieppe, when they were through,
In smoking ruins laid.

With them tanks with rattling grunt,
Gave punch to their attack.
But it was not a Second Front,
For most are safely back!

That lethal, blasting, August morn,
Instead will likely serve,
To warn the Nazis what is born,
Of brilliant plan and nerve.

To warn them that the Second Front,
With sudden chilling roar,
Is soon upon them and shall blunt,
Their vicious scheme of war.

The Ranger Battalion takes its name,
From raiders famed of old.
In many ways, it fights the same,
With tactics free and bold.

Rogers' Rangers fought for freedom too—
Their honor bitter bright.
Now Yank Commandos fight anew,
For that same shining right!

They fight with strength of mind and soul,
And of brute and bloody brawn.
They play this grim and gallant role,
That freedom's peace shall dawn!

JIM HENWOOD QUALIFIED FOR POST HE SEEKS

James (Agent) Henwood, one of Grass Valley's best known residents and a citizen who enjoys a wide acquaintanceship throughout Nevada County, is a candidate for treasurer and tax collector in the election tomorrow.

Agent Henwood entered the employ of the Wells Fargo and Company Express in 1913. He was appointed agent for the Grass Valley office in 1920 and has held that position with loyalty and success to date.

Twenty two years of bookkeeping, auditing and accounting, Henwood believes, has made him well qualified for the position to which he aspires.

Henwood is active in the Elks Lodge in Grass Valley.

Word has been received from District Ranger Frank B. Delaney that the Downieville Ranger Station is fast becoming one of the principal points of interest in this part of Sierra County. NEVADA CITY C. OF C. ISSUES BULLETIN

For quite a while it has been the intention of your secretary to issue a bulletin to be sent to the members. This office receives many documents both state and federal, directly effecting local business. In this bulletin these documents will be carefully studied and parts that are pertinent to you will be noted. Your secretary hopes you will not throw this bulletin away until you have read it.

Highway Committee Meeting at Chico— Last Friday I attended a meeting of the Highway Committee of the State Chamber of Commerce, of which I am a member. Among those present were Dick Wilson, an engineer connected with the State Highway Commission. My object in attending this meeting was to ascertain the status of the bottle-neck at the foot of the Bear Valley grade on Highway 20, and what was going to happen to the new construction of the Downieville Highway, coming into Nevada City via East Broad Street. First: The sum of $10,000 allocated by the highway commission to the Bear Valley project, is and more than likely will remain available when the disrict engineer can get the material for the necessary culverts. This material at present is not available on account of the war needs. It is possible that work on the Downieville Highway on East Broad will be resumed as all it needs to complete it is surfacing. Any new construction on the Nevada City Grass Valley Auburn highway is out for the duration as far as can be learned. Contractors do not care to bid on state work because of the time lost in getting material on the priority list.

War Production Board — Latest order of the WPB practically halt the use of shellac by civilians. The board has placed all shellacs under tight control.

Sugar—Increases in the sugar alloments of industrial and institutional users for the months of July and August, as previously announced, will be extended to cover the allotment period of September and October. This is according the OPA. Industrial users will be given a 10% increase, while institutional users will receive a 23% increase.

Housing Drive—As per a notice in the newspapers, a request has been received from a high official at Camp Beale, that the local chamber make a survey of available homes in Nevada City suitable for the use of army officers, 150 in number, who will soon be assigned to that camp. A large number of these officers will want to send their families into this district to live and it is up to us to find houses for them. If you have, or know of a modern house for rent, kindly send the information to the chamber. Rental price from $50 to $75 per month.

Joseph Day, who has opened an insurance office on Pine Street in the location formerly occupied by Lonnie Noyes, and Miss Betty Presley who is associated with her mother, Mrs. A. C. Presley, Jr., in the real estate business, are two new chamber members.

Many inquiries have reached this office regarding the recent order requiring landlords to file their rental prices. So far as we can find out this only applies to defense areas.

CIRCUS IS COMING! PROVIDES RELIEF FROM TENSIONS OF WAR

Good news in a troubled world! The circus is coming to town!

Ideal relief from the tensions of wartime is promised by Russell Bros. Great 3-Ring Circus, coming to Cashin Field, Nevada City, August 31.

Russell Bros., one of the three largest circuses now touring America, has long been a prime favorite in the East and Middle West, and this season is extending its popularity to the Western states, after passing the winter at the old Selig zoo in Los Angeles.

Advance agents emphasize that it is not to be confused with carnivals that use the word "circus" in their advertising. It is, rather, a high-class three-ring circus in all that the term implies, replete with menagerie, performing elephants, magnificent horses and many other trained animal features, together with all manner of acrobats, aerial gymnasts, tumblers, jugglers, equibrilists and clowns—all presented with the traditional atmosphere of the "big top."

Headline features include Jorgen M. Christiansen and his famous South American Criollo horse, Winston's Equestrian Sea Lions, the Seven Skyrocketing Escalantes, Sensational DeWaynes, Four Acevados, Bell-Thazer Troupe, Grace Orton Trio Clarkonians, Aerial Alexandros and many others. The program opens with a grand patriotic spectacle "United for Victory."

Doors to the menagerie and big show open at 1 and 7 p. m. and performances start at 2 and 8.

BEAUTY AND THE BEAST

"Claudia" New York Smash Hit Comes To Sacto. Aug. 31

For the third time in four years, John Golden, famous Broadway producer, is bringing a stage hit direct from New York to Californa, with the original New York cast intact.

First, he dispatched Gertrude Lawrence in "Susan And God." Then, under his management, the same star made another transcontinental jump in "Skylark."

Now, in the case of the smash hit, "Claudia" Mr. Golden is sending to Sacramento high school auditorium August 31 the same company that played 61 weeks to packed houses in the Boothe Theatre in New York.

With Frances Starr, Donald Cook, Dorothy McGuire, and Olga Baclanova, in the leading roles, this radiant comedy by Rose Franken has been acclaimed by the critics of New York City and Chicago as the most distinctive and enjoyable contribution to the theatre in many years. Possessing as it does all the component details of a splendidly constructed play, dramatized by Rose Franken from her two popular novels and stories "Claudia" and "Claudia And David."

"Claudia" is more than a comedy drama. It is a reflection of life in a suburb of New York City, where the Naughton family live upon a small farm and where the child-wife Claudia knows more about developing of farm productions than about the actualities of human experience. The perplexities of her awakening to the sterner eventualities of life are deliciously laughable and splendidly revealed by the technique of the players entrusted with the characterization.

Mail order reservations for "Claudia" are being made now at the Ware-Hazelton box office in Weinstock-Lubin's, Sacramento.

Defense Metal Miners May Find Their Jobs Have More Appeal

Press dispatches carry an announcement by War Manpower Commissioner Paul V. McNutt that a program has been formulated to keep miners of metals vitally needed for war production on their jobs by making the appeal of the jobs "more nearly comparable with those in other war industries."

The Lava Cap properties near here are defined as necessary in the war effort through the supplying of flux for smelting lead.

McNutt said the program will also include steps to recruit and train more miners through the United States Employment Service facilities and to prevent shipyard and other contractors from "pirating" metals miners for jobs in war plants.

These actions have been taken by McNutt to make metal mining jobs more attractice.

1 The War Labor Board, now considering the question of increased wages for mine workers, has made arrangements for "early and combined action on the large number of nonferrous mine cases now before it and for retroactive payments of any wage increase which may result."

2 The Selective Service System is advising its local boards to consider occupational deferments for mine workers.

3 Tire rationing boards have been asked to give special consideration to transportation requirements by mine workers between their homes and jobs.

McNutt said that in addition to steps to increase recruitment and training of miners and to stop the "pirating" of these workers to war plants, consideration is being given to the possibility of recruiting gold and silver miners for work in non precious metal mines.

He appealed to workers in mines, mills and smelters producing copper, lead, zinc and other critically needed metals to continue their work.

Warning the war effort is being slowed by lack of basic metals for ships, tanks, planes, guns and munitions, principally because of a manpower shortage, McNutt said n a statement directed to these workers:

Too many miners have left to take other jobs. Many of these jobs, it is true, are also in war production but very few of them will contribute as much to victory as the job that wes left behind.

DUTIES OF STATE CONTROLLER HARRY B. RILEY

Taxpayers of California have been saved $12,500,000 in the last six years by the vigilanee of State Controller Harry B. Riley.

Holding the purse strings as the State's chief financial officer, Controller Harry B. Riley has rejected claims averaging more than $2,000,000 a year. Last year his independent audit claims saved $3,000,000.

As guardian of the treasury Controller Riley keeps accurate account of the state's money and pays all ts bills for services and supplies. Through the responsible hands of the Controller pass more than a billion dollars every two years.

Controller Harry B. Riley performs a wide variety of services vital to the people and the efficient operation of their state government.

The controller collects $80,000,000 a year in taxes. He admnisters the gift and inheritance taxes and collects the gasoline, transportation license, insurance, gas and petroleum and alcohol beverage taxes.

Harr B. Riley is the state's chief bookkeeper. He keeps careful record of 175 funds and 4,500 accounts. He is a statistician, compiling important data on local units of government.

Annually the controller refunds to more than 80,000 farmers, flyers, boat owners and others $5,000,000 worth of taxes paid on gasoline not used on public highways.

As an independently-elected representative of the people he serves as a member of 23 boards and commissions.

Harry B. Riley's record as State Controller was approved overwhelmingly by 2,168,841 voters who returned him to office in the general election of 1938. This is the largest vote ever accorded a candidate for state office in California.

CHROME GROUP WILL MEET IN AUBURN WEDN.

The TriCounty Chrome Association will meet in Auburn Wednesday night at 8 p. m. at the Auburn Hotel.

In a letter to H. F. Sofge, local chamber of commerce secretary, President J. P. Hall of the association, advises that the El Dorado unit of the organization has adopted resolutions asking the Metals Reserve Company for higher prices, suggesting a 50 per cent raise.

Previous to the Wednesday night meeting there will be an inspection of the tri county stockpile at Bowman, near Auburn. All the manganese that has gone into the stockpile so far has come from Nevada County.

A delegation, headed by Sheriff Carl J. Tobiassen, vice president of the association, is expected to attend the meeting from Nevada County.

F. V. Phillips, manager of the Volo Mining Co., with a 100-ton chrome plant at El Dodaro, will be a speaker at next meeting explaining his company's practice in the treatment of low grade ores and of buying ores from the smaller operators either at the mines or mill. The Volo is a stong organization having recently been taken over by the Marsman Company of California. This will be of great interest to all miners who have low grade ores that can be concentrated.

Clint Mason of the mining department of Placer Land Co., Auburn will give a mineral light demonstration with strategic ores. Prospectors and miners are invited to bring samples of their ores for classification by the fluorescent light.

Supervisor M. C. Merrell, president of the State Supervisors Association and head of heir mineral survey, will be present to give the up-to-date results of the survey, which are now being compiled for publication.

CARL TOBIASSEN EXPERIENCED AS LAW OFFICER

For eight years Carl J. Tobiassen has been sheriff of Nevada County. He is a candidate for the important position in the election tomorrow.

In seeking reelection Sheriff Tobiassen points to the fact that now, perhaps as never before, experience is needed in the sheriff's office to assist the federal and state authorities in combatting espionage, sabotage and subversive activities by aliens.

Sheriff Tobiassen is chief of civil protection for the Nevada County Civilian Defense Committee.

Nevada County's sheriff is known over almost all of the west as a courteous, fearless officer and has the respect of the law enforcement agencies with which he cooperates.

FEDERALS NAB CARL TREVETHICK ON GOLD CHARGE

Carl Trevethick, 51, a gold buyer of Nevada City, Nevada County, is held here on a charge of filing false affidavits with the United States Treasury in connection with the purchase of approximately $76,000 in gold from highgraders in the Nevada City area.

Trevethick was arrested by Secret Service Agent Walter C. Fisk. He was ordered held under $5,000 bond by United States Commissioner Adellia McCabe.

Fisk said Trevetick admitted buying the gold, a few ounces at a time from miners who highgraded it from various properties in the Nevada City area.

As a front, Fisk declared, the accused man owned the Omega Quartz Mine and a quartz mill at the Queen Lil Mine, from which places Trevethick claimed the gold was obtained.

Fisk said this is the largest amount of gold, approximately 300 ounces traced to highgraders in many years.

"Trevethick admits operating in this manner for the last three years," the secret service agent declared. "He would pay the miners around $22 an ounce for the stolen gold and sell it to other buyers for around $26 an ounce, making about $4 an ounce on each transaction."

The agent stated Trevethick specifically is accused of filing fifteen false affidavits covering his gold purchases since the first of this year.

Emmet J. Seawell, assistant United States attorney, said Trevethick was the key witness in the defense of Emmet Moore Costello, who was acquitted in the federal court about a year ago on a false affidavit charge.

He said the gold buyer testified he saw Costello take gold ore from the Ace in the Hole Mile, near Nevada City. The government had attempted to prove the mine had not been in operation for a number of years.

Not everybody with a dollar to spare can shoot a gun straight—but everybody can shoot straight to the bank and buy War Bonds. Buy your 10% every pay day.

VERNON STOLL SEEKING THIRD TERM AS DA

Vernon Stoll, Nevada County's district attorney for the past eight years, during which time the people twice voted their confidence and appreciation of his work, has conducted an active campaign for reelection and is happy at the prospects of his return to office by the voters tomorrow.

Stoll states protection of rights and liberties of citizens in a wartorn and tense era, safety and preservation of homes, guarantees of freedom of democratic thought and action are elements which he will support.

Stoll is chairman of the Nevada County Defense Council, presiding at all council sessions and personally taking the defense courses of instructions at recent FBI schools and United States Army civilian protection schools.

JOSEPH MARTIN HAS TREASURER QUALIFICATIONS

Joseph Martin of Grass Valley entered the campaign for county treasurer and tax collector believing his background of business experience particularly fits him for the office.

Joe Martin canvassed the county thoroughly in the interest of his election and is pleased with the way he was greeted by the electorate. Martin's pleasing personality made him many friends and he believes his capabilities and experience will result in a favorable response by the voters at the polls tomorrow.

Joe said if elected to the office he promises the people of Nevada County a conscientious performance of duties, an exact fulfillment of specified affairs of the office and an attentiveness that places the interest of the taxpayer first.

VOTE FOR JOSEPH HENWOOD AS YOUR NEXT TREASURER AND TAX COLLECTOR

POLITICAL ADVERTISEMENT

To The Voters of Nevada County

I am asking you to vote for me for the office of COUNTY TREASURER AND TAX COLLECTOR. In coming before you I am not asking you to vote for me because I happen to have been a deputy to a former County Treasurer. I come before you because I believe that I have the necessary qualifications myself for the proper administration of the affairs of the office, and I am proud of my own biography.

I started as a poor boy as practically all of you have done. I was in the Oakland Police Department for approximately seven years. I resigned that position and accepted the responsible position of Manager of the Rodeo Valley Ferry Company. I held this latter position for a period of seven years and resigned to become Superintendent in charge of money and operations of the American Toll Bridge Company. In 1936 I left the employ of the American Toll Bridge Company and located in your county. During that time I have been with you I have been and I now am a successful business man.

I believe in efficiency, economy and courtesy in the administration of public affairs, and if elected I promise to give to this office the same attention that I have successfully given to my own business for more than 29 years.

Change is as healthy and necessary in County affairs as in all others. Let us get out of the rut. Let us have a change of blood in our county government. Let us get away from the European System. Let's be American and not make our public offices a family affair. Let's give every one a fair chance. For these principles and these principles alone will preserve the American Way.

Perpetuate the American Ideals by voting for Joe Martin for County Treasurer.

Respectfully,

JOSEPH MARTIN

PHIL SCADDEN SEEKS ELECTION ON HIS RECORD

Phil Scadden, candidate for assessor, has for forty years been a civic leader in Nevada County. For twelve of those years he was postmaster and and in that office enlarged the great circle of friends who respect him for his unfailing courtesy, integrity and devotion to his duties.

His friends in all parts of the county now feel that this is their opportunity to demonstrate their confidence in his experience as a public servant, his loyalty to the public interest, and his ability to discharge the duty of assessing all property of the county capably and fairly, by electing him to office.

His friend, J. M. Hammill, who has held the office of assessor for many years, and who gave him the post of deputy assessor, is doing what ever he can to secure Scadden's election, now that he has decided to retire from office himelf.

From a man of Mr. Hammill's sterling character no candidate could ask a higher ecommenration than this. Phil Scadden's friends believe that the training he has received in the assessor's office, and his long record of service as fire chief, city councilman, postmaster, and officer, since its founding, of the Nevada Cit Elys' Club, fairly entitle him to election by a large majority.

Dear Sir:

Although I have been treated with the utmost courtesy by Messrs. Argall and Kinyon during my two calls at the Morning Union office thus far in my campaign, I can not help but take exception to what may well be termed a "smear" effort in the columns of your paper in identifying me with Los Angeles and Southern California interests.

At least it is refreshing to note that the Morning Union considers me a menace to the re-election of Mr. Englebright. Thus far, Mr. Englebright is apparently unaware that I am opposing him, if one is to judge by the mail he regularly addresses to me. As late as August 13th, I received a letter from him requesting me to display his large campaign cards that were shipped under separate cover.

Please note these points:

1 All of Congressional District No. 2 lies north of Tehachapi.

2 Lone Pine was the center of the aqueduct dynamitings and resultant bloodshed during the infamous Los Angeles-Owens Valley warfare of 1924-28, which I survived.

3 I was compelled to sell to the City of Los Angeles my Lone Pine residence to which I brought my bride, under threat of condemnation and at THEIR price.

4 Your silly and argumentative assertion that my campaign printing was a Los Angeles product is utterly false. Every piece was printed either by the Chalfant Press of Bishop or the Roseville Press of Roseville.

5 I am running for Congressman solely because I have three sons who deserve a better heritage than we older folks have muddled up for them. That my sons, and your sons, any everybody's sons must shoulder much of the difficulties and handicaps brought on by our generation is an acknowledged fact. It would be cowardly of me to fail to forget my personal interests and not make an attempt to at least do what I may in in lightening their staggering load.

6 If we lose this war — and we are losing it, neither the selfish benefits that can be brought to this reion or Congress itself will ever again be an actuality.

7 If I am elected, and the war and the peace are won to the extent that the pork-barrel can again reign supreme, and self-service can again be the watchword, I will gladly step back to my business where I have and can continue to make more money than as a Congressman.

The following editorial from the Independence Inyo Independent, written with a great degree of restraint should interest you:

AN OPEN LETTER TO THE EDITOR OF THE GRASS VALLEY MORNING UNION

Inyo county has its first opportunity next Tuesday to vote for a local man for Congress in the 2nd congressional district. That man is R. R. Henderson of Lone Pine.

Throughout his campaign for election we have discarded any argument that he should be elected merely because he is a local man. We do not think that such decisions should be made along provincial or selfish lines.

We do believe that Mr. Henderson's ability makes him outstanding material for the office. He has operated a most successful business, he is a student of public affairs, he knows the problem of the rural resident and of the small business man. He is honest, able and broad in his viewpoint.

Mr. Henderson has campaigned on the principle that he should make no promises, that, if elected, he will work to the end that this war, and the peace to follow, shall be won; and he has campaigned at his own expense.

Throughout the district he has been accorded remarkable support. Only one newspaper, the Morning Union of Grass Valley, has stooped to oppose Henderson because he happens to come from the south end of the district. Such tactics, we feel, are poor politics, indeed; and if this is the only major argument that can be found against Henderson, then we should back him to the limit.

We quote the Grass Valley Union's most provincial and narrow comment:

"To take any chance on replacing Representative Englebright, born and bred to the Central-North, and knowing its needs and wishes as no other man knows them, with a representative out of the south, whose linkings and interest, it must be assumed, are more of the south than of the north, would not only be illogical, but also plain flouting of that which is every American's right—self preservation."

We are surprised at such comments in this presumably enlightened era. The Union evidently denies that Henderson could represent the whole district and infers quite frankly that Englebright is the personal representative of the north, rather than of the whole district that has elected him in the past.

It is our opinion that the Union's argument offers the cardinal reason for electing Henderson. Do we want men in office who represent only the chosen few; Do we mant men who are more interested in personal self preservation, than they are in the preservation of all of the people? Do we want narrow men who are more interestd in their close friends than in the welfare of this nation as a whole?

That's the trouble with Harry L. Englebright. He's been more interested in preserving his job than he has in the over-all welfare of this country.

The Union has tried to drag out the old enmity between the north and the south. They should be ashamed.

And, since this is its only major argument against Henderson, its weakness rebounds to the assistance of Henderson's campaign.

In a recent letter received at campaign headquarters the kernel of the opposition against Englebright is cited. We quote:

"I am heartily in accord with your (Henderson's) views regarding the make up of many men now in Congress. Time and again I have felt, in fact, observed, that many of these so-called representatives of the people were so busy feathering their own nests that their original intents and purposes of membership in this august body have been completely obscured, to the everlasting detriment to the welfare of those who put their faith in them as representatives. To such men may be justly attributed the sad plight of this mighty, democratic nation being virtually caught with its pants down by avowed enemies whose enmity did not begin precisely on December 7, 1941, or on December 12."

In conclusion, the biased stand of the Morning Union is much more apparent when it is taken into consideration that the Prisks, who own a controlling interest in your publication, likewise control the Pasaden Star-News and Long Beach Press-Telegram. The Prisks having their major interests in Southern California, would definitely not wish any Congressman who has lived through and participated in the four years Los Angeles-Owens Valley ravages.

YOURS VERY TRULY,

R. R. HENDERSON

FINNEGAN SAYS CHANGE WISH OF VOTERS

Frank G. Finnegan, of Nevada City, Democratic candidate for Congress from the Second California Congressional District, has arrived home after completing his second tour of the entire district.

He is confident that the people of the district desire a change from the insolationism and obstructionism, as shown by the record of the incumbent. Finnegan appeared happy and confident at the prospects of his candidacy and said that throughout the district fellow Democrats, as well as Republicans who oppose the incumbent's policies, are rallying to elect him to the congressional seat, Finnegan noticed particularly that there is no split among the Democrats, as far as his campaign is concerned. The Democratic registration is almost 2 to 1 over that of Republicans.

Sentiment among the Democrats is against continued representation in congress from this district by a Republican who not only has followed an isolationist policy but one of constant opposition to President Roosevelt F,innegan stated.

"The issue is clear," he continued, "the voters of the Second District will decide whether they wish to continue with the incumbent and his program of isolationism and obstructionism as shown by his record, or an experienced lawyer dedicated to the broad principles outlined by President Roosevelt for a victorious war and a lasting peace."

WARD SHELDON SEEKS DISTRICT ATTORNEY POST

Ward Sheldon, candidate for district attorney, has lived and maintained an active practice as attorney at law in Nevada County for the past several years.

In 1938 he was a candidate for this office. Although then a relative stranger to the district he conducted his campaign through the primaries and to the general election, where he was defeated by an extremely close vote in one of the largest elections the county has seen.

Ward Sheldon offers himself for the position of District Attorney upon experience and qualifications acquired through more than twelve years of active law practice. He was born and reared in the great mining districts of the country.

Sheldon promises the voters to carry out the duties of the position faithfully and conscientiously if elected.

FRED WILLIFORD OFFERS SERVICES TO ELECTORATE

Fred E. Williford if elected sheriff of Nevada County promises that every one will be treated equally so far as enforcement of the law is concerned. He owes no political debts or obligations to anyone. He has paid his own way, there are no strings attached, he reports.

There will be no ignoring of law violations and every complaint will be properly and fully investigated regardless of the political or social standing of the person or persons involved, Williford stated.

"I have called on as many people of the county as was physically possible, Williford said. "but there are many whom I did not see. To those people I apologize for not visiting them and I take this means of asking their support. I have not visited the mines, because as a former mine worker I know the men comin off shift are more interested in getting changed and getting home than listening to some candidate for office. I ask their support and appreciate the fine work many of them are doing for me."

Williford is a trained investigator and has had considerable experience as a law enforcement officer.

H. EVERHART DIES AT BAY

Funeral services, were conducted at the bay for Harold Everhart, 71, retired accountant who made his home near Nevada City for the past several years. Everhart's death occurred last week at the Fort Miley Hospital in San Francisco.

The deceased had been ill for the past two months and when his condition became critical he was taken from his home here to the veterans hospital. He was a veteran of the Spanish American War.

Everhart was the father of Charles E. Everhart, executive administrative assistant of the Mono National Forest in Reno. Everhart was formerly connected with the Tahoe National Forest.

The deceased also leaves his wife, Grace Everhart and several grandchildren.

• STATES DISTRICT ATTORNEY MUST ACT "WITHOUT FEAR, FAVOR OR DISCRIMINATION" •

The office of District Attorney is one of the most important county positions to be filled by the voters at the Primary Election next Tuesday. To the District Attorney is intrusted, to a large degree, the liberty of the individual, the good order of society and the safety of the community. Powers so great impose responsibilities correspondingly grave. Each voter should be able to know that the candidate for whom he casts his ballot is thoroughly qualified to carry out the duties of the office.

During the campaign now closing, as well as during the campaign of 1938, I have attempted to personally see and talk with as many of the voters as possible. By this means, I might get to better understand your problems and needs, and you might better appraise my qualifications and fitness to represent you in public office. Of course, it has been impossible to personally contact the more than 10,000 registrants in the county, and I therefore take this means to present myself and to appeal for your support.

Though it is not becoming a candidate to boast of his own abilities, I feel that I need offer no apologies in asking your support in this election. My aducational background and years of experience in the actual practice of the law, in Nevada County and elsewhere, I believe have equipped me to undertake and competently carry out the many important duties imposed upon a District Attorney.

A public official occupies a position of public trust. He must be faithful to the that trust and conduct his office for the public good. TO ACCOMPLISH THIS IN THE CASE OF THE DISTRICT ATTORNEY MEANS TO WORK IN FULL COOPERATION WITH THE SHERIFF AND ALL OTHER COUNTY OFFICIALS AND ENFORCEMENT AGENCIES. It means to carefully study each case as it is presented and to act without FEAR, FAVOR OR DISCRIMINATION. It requires a firm and aggressive stand in the curbing of lawlessness and in the prosecution of offenders, and at the same time it r,equires a constant understanding and realization that the PRIMARY DUTY OF THE PROSECUTION IS NOT TO CONVICT, BUT RATHER TO SEE THAT JUSTICE IS DONE. He must act with zeal, but he must see that the rights of the accused are respected and that oppression and injustice are not practiced.

The District Attorney is also a civil executive officer of the county. He is charged with the prosecution and defense of certain civil actions. He must counsel and aid the civil governing boards. His public trust requires a diligent cooperation with the watchfulness of the business and administrative conduct of the county government to the end that the public interest is best served.

I BELIEVE IN THESE THINGS. IF ELECTED, I PROMISE TO EXTEND MY BEST EFFORTS TO THE ATTAINMENT OF THESE PRINCIPLES AND, UPON THAT BASIS, I SOLICIT YOUR SUPPORT.

WARD SHELDON.

Brain Specialists Called In Fight To Save Life Of Billy Tobiassen, 16

Two well known brain specialists of the Pacific Coast arrived in Grass Valley during the weekend to do what they possibly can for Billy Tobiassen, 16, son of Sheriff and Mrs. Carl J. Tobiassen.

Billy still lies unconscious in the Jones Memorial Hospital in Grass Valley from head concussion and other injuires sustained last Wednesday when the State Division of Forestry fire truck overturned in Grass Valley at Mill and Chapel Streets. No improvement was reported in Billy's condition today.

Stanley Foreman, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Foreman, is slowly gaining in his battle for life. Foreman and Tobiassen were the most seriously hurt of the six fire fighters injured in the wreck. Lawrence Gallez, 21, died shortly after the crash.

The brain specialists who came to examine Billy Tobiassen were Dr. Jones of the University of California and Dr. Allen of Oakland.

Because of the serious injury to his brother, Eleon (Bub) Tobiassen, stationed with the Coast Guard in Oregon, secured a ten day furlough and arrived in Nevada City last night. Carl Tobiassen, Jr., of Sacramento, is also in Nevada City.

The other four injured in the fire truck wreck, Walter Stone, 39, driver of the truck, Victor Clemo, 16, William Kennedy, 18, and Ray Miner, 16, are rapidly recovering from their injuries.

Funeral services for Gallez were held at the Holmes Funeral Home in Grass Valley Friday.

Evtrything possible is being done for Billy Tobiassen and Stanle Foreman and hopes are held or their ultimate recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Cassidy, who had been vacationing at Lake Tahoe, have returned to their home in Nevada City.

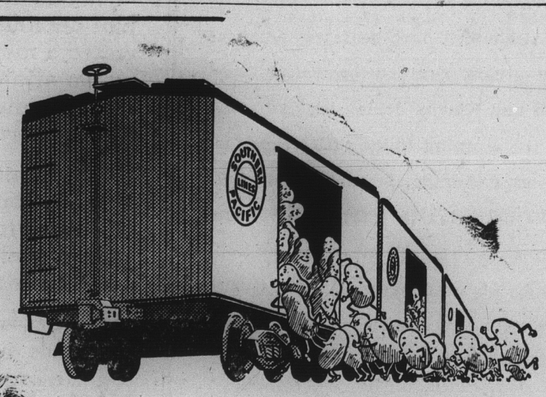
we offer reasons for: We think Wallace Ware should be elected Attorney General because of all those in race we believe him the most able and the most likely to continue the sound administration of U. S. Webb and Earl Warren in that office.

We need as never before, perhaps, in the history of the United States a clean, patriotic administration of state and national affairs. We have been served in this war thus far by mediocrities in the state administration and in congress. Partisanship has hampered and hamstrung our war effort in California and in Washington. In view of the fact that we must win this war, cost what it may, and that we must do our share in establishing a peace that will be permanent when the war is won, it is up to us, fellow citizens, to purge all isolationists, all gas bags, all cheap demagogues, all straddlers, all weasel reasoners, in short all those unworthy servants of the people, in so far as we are given a choice. Let our loyalty be first of all to our country.

Our Job Is to Save Dollars
Buy War Bonds Every Pay Day



The story of the PATRIOTIC POTATOES

The shortage of critical materials has interfered with freight car construction, and war traffic places severe demands on the present supply of cars. Consequently, the Office of Defense Transportation and the railroads have asked shippers to load freight cars more heavily, because the bigger the load in each car, the fewer cars required. Thus more cars will be available for war traffic.

Well, the potato growers on our lines in Kern County, California, decided to see what they could do about it. They had 26,896 tons of potatoes to ship, which would normally require 1,775 freight cars. By loading three extra tons of potatoes in each car, they got their crop into 1,499 cars, releasing 276 badly needed cars for other purposes.

This is an outstanding example of the voluntary cooperation that shippers are giving at many points on our lines, and elsewhere in the United States. It is helping to keep war goods and vital materials moving smoothly and swiftly to the places where they're needed. We think these shippers deserve a vote of thanks for their constructive action in behalf of the war effort.
